Peace and Security Grantmaking Areas: Since 2003, the Fund has focused its Peace and Security grantmaking on two factors to advancing global problem solving: 1) the content and style of U.S. global engagement in the face of new perils and opportunities; and 2) the strength and quality of relationships between Muslim and Western societies. During 2009 and 2010, the Fund has undertaken a strategic review of the Peace and Security program.

Program Goals and Objectives: RBF expects future efforts to foster relationships of respect and understanding between Muslim and Western societies will focus on the wider Middle East. It anticipates supporting a range of partners who offer insights on the sources of tension and conflict as well as possible solutions. RBF also will continue to encourage fresh perspectives on the U.S. role in the world and foreign policy approaches that are important to the Fund's mission.

Program Strategies: RBF funds research and analysis; conferences and trainings; Track II initiatives; diplomacy and dialogue; media outreach; next generation training; key constituency mobilization and public education.
