Background & Objectives

Background

Big Brothers Big Sisters believes one of the most effective strategies for building its nationwide network of support is to maintain on-going communication with its alumni. Therefore, Big Brothers Big Sisters commissioned Harris Interactive to contact a group of adults who had been Littles for over a year to ask questions about their experience as Littles and about their well-being as adults.

Objectives

Specifically, the study conducted by Harris Interactive sought to:

- Gauge the extent to which Adult Littles felt their Big Brothers Big Sisters’ experience to be important and to learn whether they feel Big Brothers Big Sisters made a difference in their lives;
- Understand various aspects of adult Littles’ childhood; and
- Determine productivity and success of Adult Littles in today’s society.
How the Survey Was Conducted

- Sample
  - 200 Adult Littles (alumni) with one or more years of participation in Big Brothers Big Sisters
  - These alumni were targeted because our goal was to determine the perceptions and well-being of alumni who had had substantial involvement with Big Brothers Big Sisters.

- Those surveyed
  - 109 Alumni were sampled from Harris Interactive’s panel of double opt-in online respondents, called the Harris Poll Online panel.
  - 91 Alumni were sampled from lists provided by Big Brothers Big Sisters consisting of names provided by 119 of our agencies across the country, as well as people who self-identified as alumni through our e-newsletter subscriber list or the Big Brothers Big Sisters of America website.

- Survey
  - 12-minute Online Survey (approximately 50 questions)

- Methodology
  - Between March 3 and April 16 2009, Harris Interactive conducted an online survey of 200 adults who participated in Big Brothers Big Sisters as “Littles” for at least one year during their childhood. Alumni Littles were sampled from a combination of Harris Interactive’s panel of respondents and Big Brothers Big Sisters lists.
Key Findings
Key Findings

Overall

- Overall surveyed Adult Littles believe that having been a Little was very important to them and contributed significantly to the person they are today. They report having been in the Big Brothers Big Sisters program as a child resulted in genuine, positive outcomes.

- Confirming that long and enduring mentor relationships are possible and important, nearly half were in matches of more than three years and a large percentage remain in touch with their Big today.

- As shown in previous Big Brothers Big Sisters' research, this survey indicates that longer matches have greater outcomes. In the survey, Littles in matches of more than three years reported more positive outcomes than those matched for less than three years.
Key Findings

Value of Big Brothers Big Sisters

- Large majorities of Adult Littles reported important benefits associated with participation in Big Brothers Big Sisters, as evidenced by their descriptions of the influence program participation had on their lives and their perceived success compared to peers not in the program.

- When asked to describe in their own words the value of being involved in the Big Brothers Big Sisters program as a child, the responses were overwhelmingly positive.
  - 64% said that their relationship with their Big was extremely important or very important with only 2% saying that the relationship was not important at all. 47% were matched for three or more years. 64% of Littles are still in touch with their Bigs and of these 75% have a close relationship with him/her.
  - When asked to describe the impact of having a Big Brother or Big Sister in their life, having someone in their life that provided guidance and individual attention was most frequently mentioned (49%). Many also mentioned the overall positive impact (38%) and some specifically mentioned that it helped them to become a better person (18%), and to change their life (12%).

- Over six in ten (62%) alumni consider themselves to be more successful than their peers who weren’t involved in the program.
Key Findings

Value of Big Brothers Big Sisters

- More specifically, alumni report that having a Big played an important role in who they are today by positively influencing their self-confidence, providing stability, changing their perspective on life and pushing them to set higher goals than they would have.

  - Almost all (90%) agree their Big made them feel better about themselves, with about half (52%) strongly agreeing. Further, 85% say having been a Little helped them to have confidence in their abilities.

  - Large majorities of adult Littles say their Big provided stability when they needed it (90%) and changed their perspective on what they thought possible in life (81%). Three-quarters (77%) set higher goals than they would have on their own because of their Big.

  - Overcoming problems with courage, honesty, being a team player, and respecting others are all character traits that alumni say were also positively influenced by having been a Little.
Key Findings

Value of Big Brothers Big Sisters

- Being in the program also taught Littles new things, influenced aspects of their education, and helped them to make better decisions overall.

  - Alumni surveyed said they learned right from wrong (76%), the importance of helping others (84%) and other things they would not have otherwise learned (84%) from their Big.

  - Bigs also were reported to have had a major influence on the school life of former Littles. Over three quarters (77%) reported doing better in school because of their Big, almost two-thirds (65%) agreed that their Big helped them reach a higher level of education than they thought possible and half (52%) agreed that their Big kept them from dropping out of high school.

  - The overwhelming majority (90%) reported that their relationship with their Big helped in making better choices through their childhood. Nearly as many (86%) said the same about making better choices throughout adult life.
Key Findings

Adult Little Well-Being

Note: The positive conditions below may have been caused by various influences and we should, therefore, not conclude that Big Brothers Big Sisters involvement caused these conditions. Rather, the items below give us a snapshot to better know this group of alumni and suggest the need to conduct future studies to determine Big Brothers Big Sisters’ long term effects.

- Most former Littles perceive themselves to have strong relationships with others.
  - A majority of alumni surveyed reported being extremely or very satisfied with their relationships with friends (72%), family (65%) and spouses (62%).
  - Many alumni also reported that they have strong relationships with family (54% strongly agree) and friends (51%).
    - Also, alumni who have children reported feeling either extremely (48%) or very (34%) close to them.
Key Findings

Adult Little Well-Being

- Many of the surveyed Alumni have grown up to become responsible citizens and active members of their community.
  - Two-thirds (67%) of surveyed Alumni donate to or volunteer at a religious or charitable organization, about half (52%) volunteer in the community and almost a third (29%) hold some type of leadership position in a community group.
  - Almost a quarter (22%) of adult Littles have participated in a service program like AmeriCorps. Further, 21% of alumni have served in the military.
  - Almost half of surveyed Alumni reported being satisfied with their volunteering (46% extremely/somewhat satisfied) and community engagement (42% extremely/somewhat satisfied).
Key Findings

成人小童的福祉

- 当谈到整体生活满意度时，受访的成人小童感到满意。
  - 大约三分之二（64%）的校友对他们非常或非常满意。
  - 大多数（86%）的校友同意他们的生活充实，并且41%强烈同意这个观点。

- 许多成人小童达到了教育上的重要里程碑——4年学位。他们达到了比父母更高的教育水平。长期匹配者有更高的大学毕业率。
  - 许多校友表示他们达到了比父母更高的教育水平。42%的成人小童获得了四年制大学学位或更高，而他们的父亲只有22%，母亲只有25%。
  - 长期关系（超过三年）的匹配者有更高的获得四年制学位的比率，52% vs. 34%的那些在少于三年的匹配中。
Key Findings

Adult Little Well-Being

- The majority of surveyed alumni are satisfied with their work and financial situation, and perceive themselves to have achieved high levels of success as compared to their peers growing up.
  - 62% of Alumni perceive themselves to have achieved a higher level of success than their peers who were not involved in Big Brothers Big Sisters growing up.
  - Over half (54%) of alumni are extremely or very satisfied with work. Further, four in ten (38%) alumni are extremely or very satisfied with their current financial situation.
  - Almost half (46%) of adult Littles say they are better off than the average American household. In fact, almost half (46%) of alumni have a household income of $75,000 or more.

Q740 How would you describe the impact of having a Big Brother or Big Sister in your life?
Top-of-Mind Recalls: Verbatims

Life changing. Provided me opportunities for broader and healthier view of myself and the world. Encouraged and supported my development and education into college and in transitioning to adulthood.

Life would have been much different. Having my Big kept me grounded most of the time. I was not perfect but was always able to drag myself back to who I was meant to be. I enjoy a nice measure of success today along with several skills and life lessons that I attribute to my 40+ years of friendship with my Big Brother.

The impact was invaluable in many ways. My Big provided stability, friendship and a mentor.

It was very important. He was a role model that I could look up to. He gave me some really good core values that I use in my life. The reflection is the best part, a young man giving up his weekends to spend time with a kid from the hood. That showed me that I should look past where someone came from and just see the person for who they are.

It saved me from doing stupid things.

My Big gave me great goals in life. Of eight children I am the only one to graduate high school and attend college. I give much of that credit to my Big and her family...

It was nice to be treated as an individual. My Mother raised me with five of my cousins and sometimes I felt like I was lost in the shuffle. Big Brothers Big Sisters allowed me to have this time just for me with someone I could learn from...

Having a Big Sister was a tremendous benefit. I had another adult besides my parents and family who cared about me and my future which I know today a lot of children don’t get to experience. She also exposed me to a lot of neat things I might not have experienced otherwise.

It helped me through the most roughest time in my life.
Impact on Making Better Choices

A large majority (90%) of adult Littles say that their relationship with their Big helped them make better choices while they were growing up. Almost as many (86%) say decisions in their adult life were also influenced by their relationship.
