What happens during a home visit? How long does it last? And what are my responsibilities?
A lot happens over the course of the Nurse-Family Partnership program. You’ll develop trust and a bond with your nurse home visitor. Your nurse can provide more details, but here is an overview of the Nurse-Family Partnership program.

■ Purpose
  o To help you and your family/baby have the best health and development you can o To help you and your family/baby find the services and resources you need o To help you and your family meet health and life course goals

■ Length of Visits
  o Each visit last about 1 to 1 ½ hours

■ Visit Schedule
  o Getting to Know Each Other (the first four weeks): Visits take place once a week o Pregnancy: Visits take place once a week for the remainder of your pregnancy o Postpartum (after the birth of your baby): Visits take place once a week for the first 6 weeks after your baby is born o Infancy and Toddler: Visits take place every other week until your baby is 21 months old o Wrapping It Up (the last four months): Visits take place once a month until your baby's second birthday

■ Responsibilities

Your Nurse Home Visitor will:
  o Listen to you and your family’s needs, concerns and life course goals o Assist you and your family in setting and meeting health and life course goals o Provide information and resources needed to support you, your family and baby in reaching goals o Contact you if necessary to cancel a visit

You will:
  o Decide who will be present during the visits o Set your own goals for you and your family/baby o Ask for information and resources you are interested in or need for yourself, your family and your baby o Carry out plans to meet your personal and family goals o Be open to new information provided and decide what makes sense for you o Contact your nurse home visitor if you need to cancel a visit
